When the lamp is lit, the darkness is dispelled;
Reading the Vedas, sinful intellect is destroyed.

When the sun rises, moon is not visible.

Wherever spiritual wisdom appears, ignorance is dispelled.

Reading the Vedas is the world's occupation.

The Pandits read them, study them and contemplate them.

Without understanding, all are ruined.

O Nanak, the Gurmukh is carried across. ॥1॥

Chairman's Message

It gives me great pleasure to convey my greetings and very best wishes to the students, teaching faculty and management, and all of those associated with the Sri Guru Nanak Dev Khalsa College on the occasion of the Annual Day celebrating the 42nd anniversary of the college.

The year 1974, when the college was first established in an earlier incarnation as an evening college, has a special meaning for me. That was the year when I joined the Indian Foreign Service after 5 years as a student at Hindu College and a year on the teaching faculty of St. Stephen's College of the University of Delhi.

Having spent four decades in the service of India, representing the country as a diplomat and Ambassador, I am acutely aware of the importance of education in the country's development. It is a matter of great satisfaction for me, therefore, to serve as chair of the governing body of this college.

Any institution of higher education derives its real value and acquires its reputation and brand equity ultimately from those who comprise its student body and teaching faculty. On that score, this institution can deservedly be proud. Sri Guru Nanak Dev Khalsa College has had exceptionally good results in the last two years, with a near 100% passing rate. The students of the college have also excelled on the sports field. This year we are honoring one of our students, Lalit Mathur who set a new record in the All India Inter-University 400 meters race and who represented India in the Commonwealth Games held in Scotland. The college's Art and Culture Society have also done us proud.

A word of appreciation is also due to the management committee, headed by my friend Manjit Singh G.K. This great institution, named after the first of the Sikh Gurus, is destined to go from height to height.

I would like to express my special appreciation for the leadership provided by the Principal Dr. Man Mohan Kaur.

From the Principal's Desk

Every endeavour may not meet with great success but behind every success lies great endeavour and enterprise. 2014-15 is an academic year that has witnessed great success in most of the areas we have constantly persevered in. I am proud and happy to report that we have not only excelled in academics, with the highest scores in each course being over 80 per cent, but have also earned unprecedented laurels in sports and extra-curricular events. Lalit Mathur won the Silver Medal in the National Games held at Kerala and also won the gold medal in all India Inter university championship held at Bangalore. He also created a new record of 46.01 seconds in the 400mts ensuring a place for himself and for the college in sporting history. Inderpreet Kaur represented Delhi in National Games held at Kerala and secured 3rd place in the Rhythmic Gymnastics tournament. Amit Mathur, Virender, Amit Kandhari, Manish and Arun won the first spot in various events of the Delhi State Athletic Championships. Pooja won the gold in the 1500mts and Rekha won the Heptathlon and created a new record in the Inter College Athletics Championship. Many of our students won positions in other sports tournaments. The burgeoning cultural activities in the college also bore sweet fruition in contests in the university community. Our Bhangra team won the trophy in the Folk Dance category of the Annual University festival Antardhwani beating more than 40 other competing teams. It also won a whopping 20 competitions in inter-college competitions. The street play society 'Nepathya', and the members of the 'Vedang', the Debate and Quiz society, garnered a bouquet of prizes and accolades in competitions across colleges. This year we also hosted National Seminars that were well attended and appreciated by the academic community.

Behind the glory lies the dedication and single-minded pursuit of excellence of the students and their mentoring teachers. Undeterred by infrastructural constraints of lack of ample spaces and playfields in the college, they nevertheless made the most of the available resources to carve and sculpt a name for the college in all arenas. They proved that the human spirit can overcome many constraints and hurdles and that Davids may displace Goliaths if they determine to do so. I salute the spirit of this institutional family that has truly imbibed the idea of multi-faceted growth and maturity aimed towards a holistic educational experience. I invite you to travel the journey of our accomplished academic year through the words and images within the pages of this magazine.

Dr. Manmohan Kaur

From the Editor's Desk

It gives me immense pleasure in presenting the 2014-15 edition of Surlok, our college magazine before you. At the outset I consider it my foremost duty to express my heartfelt gratitude to all the four language Editors whose painstaking and meticulous efforts have helped me in shaping the magazine in such a nice form. My thanks are also due to the contributions made by my respected colleagues as well as the young and cherished students from diverse streams and disciplines.

I would like to utilise this opportunity to have a dialogue with my readers especially young students. With modernization and globalization, the youth of India are facing the problems of sustain ability With the growing competition in every field, it has become really difficult to sustain and this is leading to several other problems and issues. I fully realise that you are in a constant race for sustenance and the one who fails to compete in the race is bullied and thrown out into seclusion. Those who have the vigor and the power, compete and win, they are blessed with a bright life. But those who fail to compete are doomed with a "common life" looked down upon by the victors of the race and they tend to resort to unlawful means to meet their ends of survival. With modernization the definition of survival has changed to incorporate the modern techno-savvy ways of life rather than just food and clothing.

The responsibility for change, progress and innovation in the society lies on today's youth shoulders. Youth can make or mar society. Young people possess energy, but it should be channelized in the right direction. Misguided youth may do greater harm to the society than even the worst enemy can do. Youth today has manifold responsibilities. It is their domain to preserve meaningfully and fruitfully the political freedom and to give a practical shape to the ideals of democracy. Another responsibility which they will have to take is to revive our culture. The great ideas enshrined in our culture will help us to set the energies of nation in the proper direction. So if the younger generation does not take up this challenge, they would be almost the enemies of the future. If we break with our culture, we misdirect the forces of change and as a result of it no progress is made by the society. Radhakrishnan goes to the extent of saying, "Inattention to our culture in our universities is to no small extent responsible for the increasing unrest among the student". His advice to the young is that they should "enter more fully into the experiences and ideals of the race, if they are to live more abundantly". It is our culture that helped India to survive despite a number of destructive forces working against it.

Conspicuously and pleasingly, the valuable contributions from my colleagues and students pertain to various issues and problems of youth. While there is an intriguing write up on emotional aspects of women harassment and exploitation both inside and outside their legitimate boundaries from a young thinker, yet another contributor takes up the issue of how disapprovingly and unconstructive women are portrayed on Indian television. The attention of reader is also drawn to the problem of generation gap and a concomitant fear of younger generation's efficiency. Surely the literary compositions contributed in English, Hindi, Sanskrit and Punjabi sections reflect our students' capability to cogitate and express forcefully and convincingly on diverse issues and ills facing our society.

Concluding I would like to express my sincere thanks to our Principal, Dr. Manmohan Kaur for giving me an opportunity to contribute to Surlok, the literary face of our college, as its General Editor.

Needlessly I would like to mention that whatever errors, mistakes or inadequacies, which might have inadvertently crept into the magazine, are my sole responsibility and I owe my valued readers an apology for the same.

Dr. Gurmohinder Singh
